(HOUSTON) June 1, 2023 — A team of Houston SPCA Animal Cruelty Investigators headed to Brazoria County late this afternoon to rescue 60 dogs, many living in filthy wire crates filled with their own urine and feces inside a home near Mustang Bayou Road in Manvel, Texas.

Officials at the scene said there were dozens of wire kennels stacked throughout the home where 60 dogs were being neglected, as well as one dog found deceased in the home. There were highly toxic ammonia levels present in the home, according to officials.

The owner signed custody of all the animals over to the Houston SPCA before they were removed from the property. All 60 dogs have been brought to the Houston SPCA where they will have a chance to settle in tonight before they receive individualized treatment and care by their veterinary and animal care staff on Friday morning.

The Houston SPCA's 10-member animal cruelty investigations team work closely with local law enforcement including HPD, Harris County Constable Precinct 1 and nine other surrounding counties to help end animal cruelty. Report animal cruelty by calling 713.869.7722 or online at www.houstonspca.org.
